

Brierley Hill at Work

By Ned Williams, The Mount Pleasant Local History Group

The History Press Ltd. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Brierley Hill at Work, Ned Williams, The Mount Pleasant Local History Group, Brierley Hill was one of those Black Country towns which was identified by the work that went on within its boundaries. Everyone knows that Brierley Hill made steel and sausages and fine pieces of glassware. These activities are now in the past but the memory of such work lingers on while the town wrestles with the problems of regeneration. This book pays plenty of attention to steel, pork products and glass, but also provides a glimpse of the many other aspects of work that have made Brierley Hill such a busy place. People worked in local government and in public sector work which maintained the life of the town, while others worked in retailing and in the provision of transport. While looking at the world of work in Brierley Hill we have taken account of the many types of employment that were to be found in its satellites: the hollow-ware industry of Quarry Bank, the brick-making that went on in The Delph, Silver End and Pensnett, the iron trades in Brockmoor and Harts Hill, and the work on...

READ ONLINE
[ 2.1 MB ]

Reviews

A top quality publication along with the font used was intriguing to read. I really could comprehend everything using this written e book. Its been designed in an remarkably straightforward way and it is only after i finished reading through this publication by which basically altered me, modify the way i believe.

-- Cathrine Larkin Sr.

Very useful to all of group of people. I actually have read through and so i am certain that i will planning to study yet again once again down the road. I am just very easily can get a satisfaction of looking at a created book.

-- Mark Bernier